Another Yak Slipping.
Wise Frenchmen.
Crying Does No Good
Shooting Into a Truckload.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.
(Copyright, 1929, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

NICHOLAS ROERICHT, in "Alti Himalaya," describing a powerful yak slipping on a high glacier toward the precipice, says "at the very edge of the precipice, the yak, straining himself, clutched down with his short, strong feet."
The yak was saved.

MAY Uncle Sam be as fortunate on the diplomatic glacier of Geneva. At this moment he is slipping rapidly toward the World Court precipice and at any moment he may go over the edge. Able British statesmen, assisted by able American lawyers representing international banking, are pushing him along.

"AT ANY time you may withdraw from the court without imputation of unkindness," says the League to Uncle Sam. That is what card sharps on trains or steamships say inviting you into a game.

FRANCE and Italy, Latin nations, dislike the close cooperation of the so-called Nordic nations, Britain and America. While MacDonald is in America talking over naval agreements and freedom of the seas, Italy and France will have a separate naval conference.

BRITAIN asks France to abandon submarines. The wise French, free of Anglo mania obsession that afflicts some of our officials, reply:

"No, we need submarines. With a small fleet under water, we can, in case of need, take care of all your ships afloat. So we keep the submarines."

FRANCE, like America, is self-supporting, or if anything is lacking, France can get it from adjoining neighbors independent of shipping.

Britain is not self-supporting, and would starve without surface fleets to feed her. Perhaps that is why Britain is building gigantic Zeppelins. They could bring food through the air.

FRANCE has not forgotten that the Nelson monument was built to commemorate French defeat at sea, and means not to let it happen again.

Submarines and airplanes will easily attend to that.

An American government, run for the United States, and not to please the British, or British-American bankers, will see that this nation is protected, as France means to be protected.

The French government is run for France, exclusively.

SENATOR WALSH, of Montana, important among Democratic presidential possibilities, rather remote possibilities just now, gives an imitation of one crying in the wilderness. He is alarmed by "the menace of the Morgan power deal in New York," expected to control 80 per cent of the state's power.

CRYING will do no good. We live in the age of mergers, and government by corporations—benevolent corporations, on the whole, if you let them have what they want.

MERGERS will grow bigger and bigger. All power will be under various names and one control eventually. And that includes money power, as well as hydraulic and other physical power. Great banks are merging, as rapidly as power companies.

IT IS THE movement of the age, industrial feudalism replacing military feudalism, as predicted by Charles Fourier 125 years ago. Dollars that keep themselves and earn interest replace soldiers that had to be fed and clothed.

THE only alternative is government management, and the government agrees that it is not honest or capable enough for that. However, everything remains in the country, and the people can always use their judgment, if they happen to have any.

RUSSIA's effort to plant Communism in China is no more of a failure than a northern effort to plant Communism, or even powerful labor unionism, in the south.

The south thinks it wants more northern capital, more factories, more employment, and objects to anything that would discourage northern capital.

A TRUCKLOAD of all age Communists, driving to a meeting of protest in Gastonia, N. C., were stopped by armed men in automobiles, and ordered to turn back. They obeyed, the automobile-armed men following them. The truck ran into an automobile unintentionally. The collision a

THREE TOWNS MENACED; ONE MAN IS DEAD

Two are Seriously Injured in Northwest Territory.

WEATHER IS DRY Rancher Trapped as He Tries to Save Home.

SANTA PAULA, Calif., Sept. 17.—(INS)—Westerly winds rose early today and drove Ventura county's greatest brush fire in 15 years to within menacing distance of this city of 8,500 inhabitants.

While 300 volunteers fought the blaze in Santa Paula canyon, the fire outflanked the guards and swept before the rising wind into the oak-crowned hills two miles from the city.

Anticipating no shift of the wind the city prepared to rush reserves to the newly threatened front.

SEATTLE, Sept. 17.—(INS)—With one man burned to death, two seriously injured and four reported missing and with three towns menaced by flames, weather bureau officials today gave fire fighters throughout the northwest disquieting information.

Continued dry weather brings an even more "acutely dangerous" forest fire situation in prospect, it was said.

Phillip Roy, 70-year-old rancher, was burned to death while trying to save his home from a fire which was reported to have surrounded the town of Yacolt, Grays Harbor county.

Estacada Cut Off.
Thought to be cut off by an inferno of flame threatening the town of Estacada, 20 miles southeast of Portland, Bert Sarver, C. A. Looney, Dave Ely and Glen Davis, fire fighters, were feared to be doomed today. Fire approaching within one to two miles on three sides and whipped by a dry east wind, were deluging the town with smoke and embers.

The flames threatening Yacolt were near enough to ignite several structures. Several families were

AUTO WRECKS STORE FRONT

Clarence Snyder's Car Hits Plate Glass Window.

Front of the John F. Darrah confectionery in West Sixth street, was wrecked at 7 o'clock this morning when a roadster, driven by Clarence Snyder, Oakwood avenue, crashed into the display window. Snyder escaped unhurt, and the automobile was slightly damaged.

Snyder, who was enroute to work, said the wheels of the car skidded off the slippery street car rails and that he swerved the machine to avoid a collision with another automobile. Before he could stop the car it hurtled the side walk and smashed into the front of the store.

Patrolman Leslie Curran investigated the crash but no arrests were made.

COUNCIL VOTES RAIL SWITCH FOR POTTERY

Hall China Company Gets East End Right of Way.

WILL SPEED JOB Change in Grades Of Two Streets Protested.

Legislation granting the Hall China Company permission to construct and maintain railroad switch across Cedar, Black and Agner alleys and Harvey avenue, connecting with the proposed new tunnel kiln plant to be erected on its Harvey avenue site next spring, was passed on three readings under suspension of the rules by council last night.

The company must file written acceptance of the grant with the clerk of council within 30 days.

The proposed switch branches off the main tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad west of the Pennzoil Oil company's bulk station. It will be completed before construction of the plant starts to facilitate the shipment of materials and machinery.

Lisbon Street Work Urged.
Attorney Frank Grosshans, counsel for Herbert Smith and others, Jennings avenue, appeared before council to protest what he contends to be a change in the grade in the proposed grading and curbed street of Jennings avenue, Springdale street, Ferry avenue and North street. Grosshans said the Springdale street was partially graded several years ago. He now contends that the new grade proposed a four-foot cut at Jennings avenue and Springdale street.

Grosshans warned council that the abutting property holders would oppose payment of improvement assessments and also seek damages if the street were improved according to present plans. Council promised an immediate investigation. Bids for the work will be opened by the board of control at 1 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon.

Dr. J. P. Ebert, Lisbon street, also appeared before the lawmak ers to urge immediate action regarding the improvement of Lisbon street, north of the street to the parking garage, formerly the West End fire station. Ebert suggested that the Pleasant Heights car tracks be moved to the opposite side of the street, eliminating two crossings. No action was taken on requests.

Vote Transfer of Funds.
Vance Cornell, Ravine street, submitted a claim for $57.90 damages alleged to have been done to his automobile when he struck an open catch basin in Lisbon street about three weeks ago. The claim was referred to a committee.

Resolution authorizing the service-safety director to repair the smoke stack at the municipal water works without advertising for bids was passed on three readings under suspension of the rules. An ordinance transferring $1,000 to the water works fund, $650 to the safety department fund and $350 to the municipal court fund was also passed on three readings.

A Mischievous Pair

By Truda Dahl

Now if I were writing about a poker hand, I'd say that these two will beat a pair. But in this case, it's a pair that are world beaters. And who knows but that before long there will be three of a kind—Dan Cupid, the Girl and the Man. For that's what this pair are planning. And you can rest assured that whatever mischief is in the air, these two will scent it and then—watch out. They're a dangerous combination, these two. For when they put their heads together, you can know that they're the instigators of a deep, dark plot. But it's a sweet plot—a plot of Love. And then—well, there will be three of a kind—and the wedding bells will ring and they'll live happily ever after.

Eight Ballots
East Liverpool voters will have scores of names and three special proposals to think about when they go to the polls on Tuesday, Nov. 5, for eight ballots have been certified to the Columbiana county board of deputy state supervisors of elections.
Although election day is 45 days distant, it is not too early to begin a study of municipal and state issues and nominees on the respective tickets. Here are the ballots:
1—Township, listing candidates for Liverpool township clerk and three trustee places.
2—City, containing Republican and Democratic nominees for all municipal offices from mayor to ward councilman.
3—Judicial, listing candidates for municipal judge.
4—Municipal court clerk, bearing the name of the Republican nominee, as no Democrat or independent was nominated.
5—East Liverpool board of education, with five candidates for the two places to be filled.
6—Proposed state tax limit amendment.
7—Proposed three-fourth mill levy for maintenance of the City hospital.
8—Proposed half-mill tax for the establishment of a system of free collection of garbage.
And while electors are determining how they shall vote, they should also make certain that their names are on the precinct registrars' books. New voters and those who neglected to qualify for the presidential balloting in 1928, or for the August primaries, will be given an opportunity to register on Oct. 18 and 19.

Observations By Edison
Writing in the Edison Plant Magazine, W. H. Meadowcroft, secretary and chief aide to the world-famous inventor, not only gives an interesting insight into Thomas Alva Edison's reaction to his deafness, but also presents the latter's views on the much-discussed subject of the age limit of effectiveness.
"I have no doubt," he quotes Mr. Edison as saying, "that my nerves are stronger and better today than they would have been if I had heard all the foolish, meaningless sounds that normal people hear."
That's a philosophical way in which to view what most people would look upon as a most decided infirmity, possibly a view a young man would be utterly unable to take, which in some degree has a bearing on what this world benefactor of eighty-two has to say regarding age effectiveness.
As Mr. Edison sees it, the man who has reached the age of thirty-six "is just about ready to discard the illusions built upon false theories, for which wrong instructions and usually ignorance previously have made him an easy mark," which, it may be said, is somewhat in line with the view expressed by Henry Ford.
"At thirty-six he is just beginning to get down to business. If he is really worth while he has passed through a period of hard knocks by that time. The youthful man never leads the easy, sheltered, knockless, unshocked life. At thirty-six he ought to be prepared to meet with realities and after that period in his life until he is sixty he should be able to handle them with steadily increasing efficiency."

Mr. Meadowcroft explains that Mr. Edison herein assumes that the man of whom he is speaking has not undermined his physical and mental health by a life of intemperance, and then goes on again to quote his chief:
"Subsequently, if he has not injured his body by unhealthy living, he may very rightly continue to be increasingly efficient up to his eightieth birthday, and in exceptional cases until ninety."
Thus we have both Mr. Ford and Mr. Edison—both of whom are world figures, the one in industry and the other in the field of invention—utterly out of sympathy with the theory that man has passed his effectiveness at forty-five and becomes more of a liability than an asset at that age.
Of course, it may be contended that Mr. Ford, at sixty-six, and Mr. Edison, at eighty-two, would naturally be adverse to feeling that they had outlived their usefulness and are thus influenced to speak as they do. We would have to accede to such a contention. We would hate to believe that either would thus attempt to deceive either the public or himself. We would rather take their views as their honest convictions and would rather accept their views than the views of those who, on theory, would deny employment to men of forty and scrap men at forty-five.

Human Factor in Road Mishaps
The high accident rate on certain highways besetting Ohio seems difficult to explain on any other grounds than incompetence and recklessness of drivers. These stretches of highway are not only perfectly straight, but free from potholes that are blind, dangerous curves and the like. Engineering skill has been called into action in the building of some of the state's roads in an effort to overcome those things which frequently are blamed for mishaps, yet the accident rate continues to mount.
Traffic, of course, is heavy on all through roads, and traffic will continue to grow. And as traffic grows, accidents will increase in numbers. No amount of betterment of the highways themselves will overcome these mishaps. The personal element will have to be taken into account.
There apparently is nothing which will prevent such recklessness, for instance, as driving at a high rate of speed on a slippery pavement. Such things are the result of the personal element alone in driving. The most perfect highway built could not stop an accident where the driver is unmindful of his own neck. And reckless driving on wet highways is not half of what the motorists do along stretches of road through the country.

HASKIN LETTER DAILY

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 17, 1929.—There are strong indications that the turn in the economic affairs of Great Britain has come and that she is on the road to regaining her world prestige as a manufacturing and trading nation. This, in England, ordinarily is a period of great dullness. It is the end of "the season." Even in the leisurely times before the World war, nearly everybody stopped work and went on holiday. It was a period of slack industrial activity and slack trade.
This year, for the first time in a very long while, production and trade not only have not slumped but in some lines actually show improvement over preceding months. The earlier part of the year showed fair activity and now, instead of becoming depressed, as has been usual, especially since the war, the activity has increased. There is an air of briskness about the big centers and the industries have kept busy in order to meet the demand for goods.
This is a matter of more than passing importance. When the World war was over England was prostrated. Unemployment set in so seriously that the dole had to be voted by the government. Taxes were onerously oppressive. Out of every dollar a man earned he had to give 20 cents to the government. Those with higher incomes had to turn over as much as 80 cents out of every dollar of income. But the working people were only too glad to pay a fifth of their entire earned income if only they could get jobs. Men who had been captains, majors, colonels in the war and were covered with decorations were glad to take jobs as bus drivers, janitors, waiters—the most menial sorts of work.
The result of such a situation was that the world, seeing how things were, said that although technically England was one of the victors in the war, actually she was defeated. What was more important, they declared she was defeated for all time. The passing of all the great empires was cited.
There was plenty of reason to support such a theory; all the reason in the world save, perhaps, a forgetfulness of the indomitable stubbornness of the British people. They hung on through the poverty which was the more insupportable because of past wealth and world domination. Great strikes paralyzed the mills. Many great estates were broken up. Taxes remained high and still do, for that matter. But the people hung on. British shipping, its great pride and source of wealth and power, dropped to the very depths. But the English held on and worked as probably few people have ever worked before, counted as a nation.
Now, for the first time in more than a decade, has come to the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce news of the turn of fortune and the revival of business. What makes the news of special interest here is that many an American manufacturer, many an exporter was so sure that England was definitely on the decline that they felt they already had pocketed the world trade that once was hers. Germany, who made a much more rapid recovery, thought the same thing. It was felt by thousands of business men that Great Britain soon would be out of the running as a competitor.
A year ago the number of workers actually registered as unemployed and seeking work was 1,305,000. Today that number has declined to 1,162,000. In a year 146,000 workers have found jobs and are keeping them in this dulllest of seasons.
The outlook in the Lancashire cotton mills which has kept many out of work has come to an end with a compromise settlement reached by arbitration.
Railway receipts and shipping freights are both higher than at this time last year. Foreign trade, on which England has so long depended and which has been much depressed, is getting back toward its old strong basis. What is particularly remarkable is that retail trade has greatly improved.
The iron and steel industry is satisfactory, completely passing over the usual seasonal slump. The coal trade is in the best shape it has enjoyed in a long time and the domestic demand is showing improvement. Orders are coming in and some very favorable Italian contracts are pending. Construction and the engineering trade are reported as steady with the electrical industry working full time. Sales of automobiles are well maintained with an improvement in the demand for commercial vehicles, trucks and the like.
So it appears that England is coming back. Her natural conservatism and the hard lessons she has learned in the last decade will cause her to take every advantage of improving conditions. She will build up her increased earnings in celebrations but, with the goal of complete success in sight, will work harder than ever and it strongly appears that those who have expected to witness the early collapse of the British Empire as a world power will have to alter their belief.

Snowden's "Hagging."

The newspaper that allowed their fear that Snowden would wreck the Young plan to lead them into abusing both the chancellor himself and his methods, are now engaged in an amusing effort to justify some of the terms they applied to his action at The Hague. Among other things they accused him of "hagging."

The verb "to haggle" means to bargain in a small, tedious and irritating manner, to stick at trifles, to split hairs. Snowden did little enough of that. At the first meeting of the conference he stated what he wanted—and then stuck to it. There was plenty of "hagging" among the representatives of the other powers, as to how they should meet his demands and who should make the "sacrifice." Snowden sat tight until they got over their "hagging," and decided among themselves on an offer that was acceptable to him. Then he accepted it.

Snowden came as near as any one recently has to applying to international affairs the technique of private business. The success that attended his efforts at The Hague gives hope that eventually diplomacy will consist less of "hagging" and intrigue and more of straight - from - the - shoulder truths. The survival of Machiavellian methods in international negotiations is one reason why they are still so far below ordinary business transactions in honesty and achievement.—Detroit Free Press.

Ritzzy Rosalie

The bow at the side of Rosalie's hat is in accordance with the latest fall dictum, and is seen in most of the new models.
Rosalie gave the day up to luggage shopping, and she has seen so many new styles and types of luggage that she doesn't know much more than she did before about what she wants for her trip. There are hosiery bags, in which one carries nothing but hosiery, similar to the shoe and hat boxes which are already in use. They are made in green calf or colored to match the rest of the outfit.
Then there are trunks which are brightly striped in various colors for identification purposes. Also she saw luggage in mottled or marbled designs and leather in pastel colors.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—With the enormous growth of the chain store comes a sweeping espionage system for thousands of clerks, cashiers, managers and assistants. They are pretty generally under the never sleeping camera eye. More than 1,000 sleuths over the land are on the job daily.

It is their assignments to look out for till tapping and other sharp practices. While a few organizations are not so policed and nearly all deny it, the truth is 90 per cent of chain store employees are under constant surveillance.

In huge and shifting organizations, the promoters say this check-up is absolutely necessary, even though employees do go under a most rigid investigation before being employed. Fasts are combed and each syndicate has its own corps of investigators.

That the careful scrutiny has been of value is proven by the amazingly few chain store peculations. Most of the infractions have been petty thefts, soon discovered and treated with instant dismissal. "Steel pigeons" are shifted from store to store and city to city.

The hired snoopers will fall in with suggestions to rob and carry on right up to the actual theft, but before it takes place the guilty worker finds himself suddenly dismissed and is happily saved from the prison cell—with a lesson.

Before a chain store employee is elevated to a position of trust his private life goes under the microscope. His goings, comings and companions are tabulated. Thrift plays a big part in securing advancement, for the consistent saver is rarely interested in liquor, gambling or gold digging ladies.

There is a more appealing side to the espionage. The employee whose virtues may never become known in such a large organization finds them uncovered and brought to the attention of responsible heads. Thus he wins a promotion he may not have secured otherwise.

An expensive hotel adroitly foils souvenir hunters without fuss. To accuse a patron of souvenir grabbing creates scenes. Thus when one leaves his room to check out, an inspector steps in. He has been trained to take in the contents of the room at a practiced glance. If anything is missing, the news is flashed to the cashier who quickly adds it to the bill at ha, ha, triple the price. The patron may flush but he pays without a word.

A decided drop is reported in the sale of imported perfumes due to the market being flooded with spurious scents. The substitutes give a pleasant whiff momentarily but do not last until the street is reached. Perfumes from abroad not costing 50 cents an ounce have been retailed here at $10 an ounce.

Incidentally, manufacturers of perfumes have increased 100 per cent since prohibition. Many are legitimate but others are mere "rackets." The alcohol needed as a perfume basis, but slyly bootlegged, brings in the soft money.

A bright-eyed young lady was chatting eagerly across a cafe table to her dignified and middle-aged escort.

"She is fairly twitching with enthusiasm," remarked an observer. "Yeah," replied a cynic, "and she'll twitch him out of a bank of blackmail."

In what the program calls a "revue" ten Tuxedoed young men sit at as many pianos stretched across the stage and render a melody in perfect rhythm. It is to be topped by another revue in rehearsal which is to offer 30 piano playing young ladies at 30 pianos.

New York's leading dance instructor decrees the return of stately dances for winter. So any evening now you'll probably see a lot of us old fools capering about in a minuet.

Norman Anthony, Jr., gave a young lady last checker a dollar bill, expecting change. Instead she slipped it into her cash box. "What did you do to the hat," he archly inquired, "Block it?" Copyright, 1919, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention is Worth a Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

My friend, Mr. Paul Hiebert of New York, is always publishing most useful and interesting medical books. He recently sent me one entitled, "Surgery of Neoplastic Diseases by Electrothermic Methods."

My, but those are big words! The very able author, Dr. George A. Wyeth, another friend of mine, must have burned midnight oil to find the title!

This is a valuable book, dealing with those growths of the skin and other tissues which are puzzling to victims and doctors alike. Just what to do with a growth, whether it be malignant or otherwise, is not easy to determine.

There is the question of scar tissue: Will there be marked impairment in appearance? Is it a painful or dangerous procedure? Will it lead to permanent relief? These are some of the questions that arise in connection with new growths. Who is to answer them? Everybody dreads the knife. The "electrothermic" method, depending on the use of a needle, does away with the need of a knife. A special form of electric current is passed through the needle, creating just enough heat in the tissues. It penetrates to dry out all the moisture until the treated tissue is destroyed. It dries up and drops off, leaving a clean, healthy wound which quickly heals.

Some warts and moles, as well as certain forms of birthmarks, can be removed in this manner. A local anaesthetic renders it a painless procedure.
Skin cancer and certain troubles with the tongue and inside the mouth are treated by the method. Other parts of the body, where inspection is possible, give themselves to the form of treatment in suitable cases.
My purpose in speaking of these matters is to reassure the timid. Every doctor knows that many a case of malignant disease has become hopeless, past any prospect of removal, just because morbid fear of an operation has kept the victim from consulting a doctor. When it is known that there are painless, bloodless ways of getting rid of simple and even serious troubles, it may encourage the timid to have the needed attention.

It is a dreadful mistake to put off the inevitable. If there is a trouble which is sure to get worse as time passes attend to it now. It is probably a simple thing at this stage. Certainly it will be worse as time passes.

The electrothermic system is one of many modern uses of electricity. The things that electricity can do for man are without number. In this particular matter it is employed to save life.

ANNIE LAURIE'S TIMELY ADVICE

ANNE LAURIE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
I am in my early teens and have been corresponding with a young man a few years my senior. I like him very much as a friend. All of a sudden he stopped writing to me without any cause. For several months I never heard from him. During this time I became engaged to a young man whom I love dearly. Then I heard from this friend and his reasons for not writing were very acceptable. Now my question is, do you think it would be unfair to my fiancé to keep up this correspondence? If you do not approve of this correspondence, how would you go about dropping it? I like this friend very much, but I do not love him. We have been corresponding for several years. Please advise me. PEACHES.

PEACHES: In all fairness to your fiancé you should drop the correspondence, my dear. Write and tell the other boy of your engagement and also tell him that you feel that you do not care to carry on the correspondence any more. He certainly won't find objection to such a letter, but don't make it sound forced nor stilted. Make it friendly, but firm.

ANNIE LAURIE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
I am in my late teens. I am in love with a boy and I have been going with him about four months. He says he loves me better than any one else. I also love him. Do you think it would be nice to give him a birthday party? DOT.

DOT: I see no reason why you should not give a party in honor of this boy's birthday if you want. However, I would not make the fact too obvious. Let it be a surprise to him and his friends. In this way you avoid stressing the point that the party is given expressly for him. Just invite your friends as you would to any party. Then when the refreshments are served you might have a birthday cake to announce the occasion and say that as long as it is ———'s birthday you thought it would be pleasant for every one to celebrate it with him.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a boy in my late teens and am nervous, embarrassed and somewhat bashful when in the presence of girls or young ladies. Will you please tell me how I can overcome this handicap? I would also like to know the best way to get on friendly terms with a girl with whom I am not very well acquainted? J.S.

J.S.: There is really no reason why a young man should be embarrassed in the presence of ladies if he is sure that his attitude is at all times courteous and friendly. Be sure that your manners are all that they should be. Be well informed on current topics so that you need have no fear of your conversational ability. Above all make a definite effort to be natural. This quality in both men and women is the best formula for social poise.

If you have been properly introduced to the young lady you mention there is no reason why you should not ask her to permit you to call at her home, meet her parents and then ask her to go to the theater or company you to some social function that you are at tending.

GIRL, AIDED BY POTTERS, GOES TO FT. WAYNE BIBLE SCHOOL

MISS MUNDY'S PRAYERS FOR HELP ANSWERED

Overcomes Handicaps To Study Mission Work.

HEARS VOICE

Her Story Enlists Interest in Newell Plant.

Her life transformed by conversion five years ago, following which an unqualified surrender of her life to God's service has developed a faith which has indicated definite answers to prayer by which she has been enabled to complete two years of study preparatory to going into the foreign field as a missionary. Miss Geraldine Mundy, a pottery worker, left here today to begin her third year at the Ft. Wayne Ind. Bible school.

Her departure followed a farewell service in the First Baptist church, West Fifth street, in which she spoke.

She spoke to fellow workers in the Edwin M. Knowles pottery in Newell, W. Va., one day last week. Her story so enlisted their interest that they presented her with a purse of $50.

Worked in Pottery.

She declared that despite her handicaps she has sent the happiest years of her life since her conversion "alone with Him." She averred: "I realize I am unworthy of His love and I am keenly conscious of the fact that I am unworthy of the call to special work that He gave me two years ago while I was working at the Knowles pottery."

Then she went on to tell that she thought it was the voice of the enemy speaking to her when "the Lord began speaking to me about going to school for I could not believe that He would call such a one as I into His service. I could not see how the Lord could use such a weak, insignificant person as I. Furthermore, I had no financial backing, my father being disabled and the support of the home depending in part upon me."

She told how the burden became so great she could neither eat nor sleep. "I then told the Lord I really wanted to go to school. He should show me the financial support without any effort on my part and I would believe Him and go. Within two weeks He did this and definitely led me to the Bible Training School in Ft. Wayne, Ind."

Family Burdens Heavy.

How she planned to return home to work and earn money for her second year of study was related. "But I learned it was no use to plan for myself. Jesus can do it better than I," she noted. She found that more of the family burden had come to her with the marriage of her sister. She worked daily in the shop and prayed that the Lord's will be done so far as her return to school was concerned. A month before the time to go back conditions became so unpromising that she thought surely the Lord did not expect her to go back. She prayed and read the Bible and maintained a heavenly communion with her Father. "I prayed definitely for the Lord to open the way," she said. "I gave my two weeks' notice of quitting work. Another week passed and the way seemed to be growing harder every day. I prayed almost day and night for the way to open. I was content to believe that the same Jesus whom Peter and Paul served was in heaven and He was the same prayer-answering God yesterday, today and forever. I quit work. The way was still dark and school was to open on the following Wednesday. On Monday I began to get restless for I thought the Lord should be answering prayer but instead He gave me a verse of scripture that just suited the occasion: 'Be still and know that I am God.'

"It was hard to do but we must never try to hurry God. He is never too slow but we at times are too fast. I had already written the school that I would be there for the opening and had my trunk almost packed. I finally wrote I might be a few days late. On Wednesday I had such a burden upon me that I did not get out of bed. I knew nothing more to ask of the Lord. I knew nothing that I had left undone, but I did know that I was going to school for the Lord had told me so.

WOMAN IS HELD IN BANK THEFT

CLEVELAND, Sept. 17.—(INS.)—Debts and sickness in her family today were given by Mrs. Viola M. Warner, distinguished-looking 43-year-old woman teller of the Detroit-W. 6th branch of the Union Trust company, here, as the reasons for her embezzlement of $33,231 of bank funds over a period of six years, according to police.

Mrs. Warner, who is the mother of one child, has been an employee of the bank for more than 12 years. She was arrested yesterday by Capt. John Washer, head of the Union Trust safety department, following her confession to the embezzlement in a signed statement.

Bert Warner, her husband, whom she claims knew about her misappropriations and whose debts she paid off with a part of the embezzled funds, was also held under arrest today for investigation. Mrs. Warner told authorities she has been separated from her husband for the last ten months.

TOLEDO NABS CHILD ROBBERS

Eleven are Held For Number of Thefts.

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 17.—(INS.)—Police today are trying to establish the motive of 11 "child robbers" who committed a number of thefts here within the last two weeks.

The eleventh member of the juvenile band was arrested yesterday as he sat at his desk in a high school here.

According to police, who are withholding the names of the young bandits, the boy is said to have admitted stealing money, jewelry and clothes from automobiles, whose owners were visiting a fashionable beach resort here.

The boy, 14, implicated another boy and an arrest is expected soon.

Five members of the "gang" are being held to the grand jury on charges of automobile larceny, and five others are being held by juvenile authorities, including two girls, 13 and 15 years of age.

Police declare that the band, during its operations, obtained more than $2,000 in loot, which composed clothing, jewelry and money. Most of the loot has been recovered, officers stated.

"Schemes" worked by the child desperados including a ruse whereby the girls would entice men into an auto and then the boys, who were concealed in the tonneau, would hold up the victims and rob them.

was a verse of scripture: "They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall run and not be weary; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall walk and not faint." About 4 o'clock in the afternoon the Lord who had seemed so far away spoke to me. He told me to get up and go to school and He would supply all of my needs. I obeyed His voice and all of my burdens rolled away. It is wonderful that when Jesus speaks we do not have to worry about circumstances. He did not show me the money but the first letter I received from home stated that my brother was working and supporting father and mother.

"Later the way was opened to me by which I was enabled to work my way through school for which I will never cease to praise the Lord. I can look back at the last two years as the happiest of my life. "The same way is already opened to me this year. Now I praise the Lord that all things work together for good to those who love Him."

She explained that she believed she would go into foreign mission work despite the great need of the gospel in this country because all here know the way to salvation if they but utilize it.

Cites Mission Needs.

"It is true there are many in East Liverpool who know not the Christ; there are many such in the Knowles pottery, but every one hears the ringing of church bells each Sunday and on week days and all can purchase a Bible and learn of the way if they so elect. In an hour any one may have the great plan of salvation here. If the heathen are lost it may be because none has ever told them the way of salvation."

"Bible students are told that America is turning its back on Jesus Christ and if Jesus tarries His coming 25 years it may be necessary for other countries to send missionaries here to convert heathen America if its apostasy continues. I do not doubt this statement when I think of the change in the few years I can remember. But this is not because God changes for He is ever the same. The gospel still works. Jesus is the same yesterday, today and forever. The best evidence I have that God answers prayer is what He has done for me."

You may say that a mother of four children should not go riding with a truckload of Communists. She might say that she should have been warned that her life was in danger.

THE incident has created "a painful impression." But the fact appears plain that North Carolina will not tolerate Communism, or anything that North Carolina calls Communism.

HEFLIN DEMANDS RASKOB'S HEAD

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—(INS.)—Resignation of John J. Raskob as chairman of the Democratic National committee was demanded today by Senator Heflin (D) of Alabama, in a statement asserting that the party machinery was being geared to promote the presidential candidacy of Gov. Alfred E. Smith in 1932.

Heflin declared that the Smith boom was launched in Boston on Saturday night at a Democratic rally, which was attended by leading Massachusetts Democrats and by Pouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic National executive committee.

Suspect is Held

Officials of the Ohio Bell Telephone company reported to police yesterday that the pay station in the lobby of the post office had been stolen over the week-end. Wires to the telephone were cut. Amount in the telephone toll box at the time is not known.

"BULL" LOSES MATCH TO CUPID

"Bull" Montana, known as one of the ugliest men in the movies, may have knocked out a score of tough customers during his movie and ring career. Danny Cupid, however, knocked "Bull" for a row of tenpines when he introduced him to Mary Poulson. They walked right out to the license bureau in Los Angeles and let the justice of the peace count ten over them.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

By W. S. Cousins.

I. N. S. Financial Editor. NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Stocks of the public utilities companies were the best ground-gainers in an irregular and unsteady market this morning. Effects of the government's September financing were still to be seen in the tightening up of money strings, but there was apparently plenty of funds for the stock market at 7 1/2 per cent. For call money and 8 1/2 to 9 per cent for time money. Another meeting of the reserve board's advisory council is being held in Washington today, which was a source of uneasiness to the big bulls.

Columbia Gas & Electric, American Waterworks, National Power and Light, Electric Light & Power, and other popular utilities forged ahead to the highest prices on the present move, Columbia topping its former high record at 120 1/2. Active buying was also reported in American Waterworks and Public Service of New Jersey, while American & Foreign Power dipped a few points on profit-taking.

Nervousness over brokers' loan figures in the reserve board's weekly report, has already begun to show itself in the financial district.

Motor, oil, rail equipment and other important stocks slipped off a point or two in a persistent selling move in the second hour. Union Pacific, in the high-priced railroad group, lost 6 points at 151 1/4 and reactions of a point or two were recorded for Canadian Pacific, New York Central and other leading rails. The market quieted down in this period and price changes were narrow. Call money 7 1/2 per cent.

CRUISER ISSUE AWAITS PARLEY

Point Will be Settled at January Conference.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.

I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The sole remaining difference between Great Britain and the United States in their naval negotiations—involving whether the American navy is to have 13 or 21 cruisers mounting eight-inch guns—probably will not be settled outside the five-power conference to be held in January.

Settlement of this point, it was explained today, is dependent upon what the other powers, Japan, France and Italy, demand in the way of cruiser ratios.

Already there have been warnings from Paris, Tokio and Rome that the smaller powers are not going to be content with the ratios assigned to them at Washington eight years ago. Those ratios were 3 for Japan and 15 each for France and Italy, as compared with 5 each for Great Britain and the United States.

In any event, it was emphasized here today that the difference between Great Britain and the United States will not be permitted to jeopardize the success of the conference. The real danger to the conference does not lie in British-American differences, but in the willingness or unwillingness of Japan, France and Italy to "go along" in the program of auxiliary ship limitation.

SCHOOL STRIKE GOES TO COURT

MARTINS FERRY, O., Sept. 17.—(INS.)—The "school strike" which resulted over the closing of Steel school, near here, reached the court stage today when taxpayers there sued the Pease township school board members to compel them to reopen the school.

The suit claims 23 pupils were refused admission to the school without the necessary resolutions of notices of the plan to transfer them to the all-ready-over-crowded Steele Valley district school nearby.

What's become of all the homely women?

WOMEN simply aren't homely any more. You meet plain women, yes . . . but their smart, trim air is the envy of many who are only beautiful.

In the old days, when a girl gave promise of becoming "hopelessly plain," she was frankly informed of the fact to save her from hurt pride in later years. She remained frumpy and tried to convince herself that she didn't care!

Not today!

Advertising has played a remarkable part in making every woman attractive.

It has taught her to use the beauty and charm that are her heritage, regardless of the shape of her features. Her teeth, her hair, her hands, her complexion, her clothes, and even her erect, athletic figure have been "brought out" by methods constantly before her in advertising.

The great beauty and style specialists of the country have been her consultants, as they are yours, if you are taking fullest advantage of the opportunities before you every day, in the advertising columns of this newspaper.

Read the advertisements. They hold secrets of beauty and styles that were denied the women of yesterday.

*News of this Sliced bread sweeps entire city.
Busy mothers acclaim
this great achievement.*

NEIGHBORS are telling neighbors about the new Goddard Kleen-Maid bread, sliced, when you get it . . . ready to serve.

Swift deliveries are hurrying from our bakery to grocers all over town to keep the supply equal to the increasing demand.

Busy mothers say Goddard's Kleen-Maid Sliced bread is the greatest time saver since ready ground coffee and ready sliced bacon.

Precious Minutes Now Saved

When children are hungry and you are busy you don't have to stop what you are doing. Now let them make their own sandwiches with Goddard's Kleen-Maid Sliced bread.

When dinner is late anyone can help you by serving the bread.
No crumbs. No uneven slices. Goddard's Kleen-Maid Sliced bread is ready to serve when you get it.

When a lunch must be packed you can make sandwiches now quicker than you could cut the slices. All sandwiches are the same size . . . Eah is perfect with Goddard's Kleen-Maid slices.

Picnics can be quickly prepared. Sandwiches can be packed right back in the tidy tray and wrapped. Here they keep fresh and appetizing until served. Or you can take sliced Goddard's Kleen-Maid loaves to your picnic and make sandwiches on the spot.

New Kind of Toast

Quick, tender toast can now be yours with Goddard's Kleen-Maid Sliced bread. Slices of toast just alike because all are the same size. And because of the richly blended ingredients of God-dard's Kleen-Maid Sliced bread the toast is notably better than ordinary toast.

NO STATE AID

Funds Will be Sought
Under Norton
Law.

Hopes for the improvement of Pennsylvania avenue between the Garfield school and the Dry Run bridge, legislation for which was enacted early this year, has been abandoned in the 1929 street improvement program, city officials said today.

Opposition on the part of Pennsylvania avenue property owners blocked the improvement after notices had been served by council.
Efforts to obtain state and county aid failed.

Estimates on the cost of the proposed repaving, exclusive of the section between the street car tracks, was estimated by the city engineer between $6 and $7 a foot frontage.

Another effort to obtain state aid under the provisions of the Norton law will be made by the municipality next year, it is said.
If the state can be induced to designate Pennsylvania avenue as a state highway, a portion of the cost for its improvement will be borne by the highway department.

If Your Stomach Torments You

Do This for Quick Relief!

Most digestive suffering is due to "too much acid" in the stomach causing gas, heartburn, stomach pain and other distressing symptoms. By taking a little Bisurated Magnesia after eating or whenever pain is felt, you promptly remove the cause of the trouble. Bisurit all over the civilized world. There is no better indigestion remedy and food corrective. You can get it in either powder or tablets at the nearest good drug store. If your

When You Buy Your Radio ASK ONE QUESTION

"Is It a Screen Grid?" --- If It Isn't

STOP AND THINK

Any radio that is not equipped with the new Screen-Grid Tube faces a handicap in reception which it can not hope to overcome . . . when its reception is compared with the reception over a set using screen-grid tubes. The development and perfec- tion of the screen-grid tube has revolutionized radio. Through its use in a properly engineered set . . it gives us a class of reception . . that is simply impossible to equal with the radio of yesterday. With this fact before you, it is readily seen why you should ask the above question, when buying your first or new radio. We are inter- ested, primarily, in one thing . . . BETTER RADIO RECEPTION IN THE HOME . . and in order to assure this . . your set must be one that uses the new screen-grid tube. The proof of the pudding is in the eating . . and so it is with the 1930 screen-grid radio. Convince yourself of this fact before you buy a non-screen- grid set . . then you can't go wrong.

Campolo Ill, Asks Respite

Wants Scott Bout Postponed Until Monday.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—As I understand it, they are going to fix everything today so that one and all will make as little money as possible out of the Sharkey-Loughran and Scott-Campolo fights, which may lead to the title or merely to the heavyweight championship of New York and Brooklyn respectively. However, Campolo, he has the bee in his neck, and so Humbert J. Pugazzy, who is an expert on pains in the neck, will ask the boxing commission today for a postponement of his fight until Monday next. If he gets it, he will be running virtually in conflict with the rival fight, scheduled three days later.

In this way, the champs will have plenty of excuse for staying away from both and, in the case of Campolo and Scott, the champs don't need much inspiration. They probably could stay away the first time they tried.

Victory, you see, is seeking his second postponement of the Scott fight and the folks are beginning to wonder what it is all about. They realize that, under the international rules of cricket, the caballero can ask once more after which he will be considered to be bowled out and a new batsman nominated in his stead. They are beginning to feel that this point is well taken and that so is the caballero.

SAINTS DEFEAT MILLERS, 14-6

Only one game was contested in the American Association pennant race yesterday and it had no effect on the standings.

St. Paul and Minneapolis played off the second game of their Sunday double-header, which had been postponed on account of rain. The Saints obtained a decisive victory by a 14 to 6 victory.

Briefly, the standings are: Kansas City, first; St. Paul, second; Minneapolis, third; Louisville, fourth; Indianapolis, fifth; Columbus, sixth; Toledo, seventh, and Milwaukee, eighth.

Games today are: Columbus at St. Paul; Toledo at Minneapolis; Indianapolis at Milwaukee; and Louisville at Kansas City.

SOFTBALL FOES CLASH TONIGHT

Second game of the city softball championship series, postponed from last night on account of rain, will be staged tomorrow night at Newell park.

The contenders for titular honors are the Smith News, first half winners, and the Newell Service nine, last half victors.

The News are one-up on the West Virginians as a result of their 10 victory in the opening tilt of the series.

Tonight's engagement is scheduled for 5:30.

TIGERS TO USE OLD METHODS

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 17.—The same old attack and defense that was good enough for the Tigers in 1928 will be good enough for the 1929 edition of the Princeton football squad. This, summed up, was Coach Bill Roper's reply yesterday at the first practice to the query as to whether or not his team would feature a new style of play this year. Forty-eight men reported for pre-season work.

Dixies, Potters On Edge

Open Community Loop Series Tomorrow.

WASHED out by Saturday rain, the Community league championship series, postponed from Saturday afternoon, will be launched tomorrow afternoon on the Dixonville diamond.

The Potters' Supply nine, winners in the first section of play, will battle the Dixonville club, which copped the flag in the last half, in the titular series beginning tomorrow.

The series winner will be determined on a three-out-of-five basis. In all probability, Rose will go to the hilltop for the Dixies with Martin twirling for the Potters.

Play is scheduled for 5:30 o'clock.

LAUGHLIN GRIDDERS AT WORK

New Material Strengthens Semi-pro Squad.

With the opening game just two weeks ago, the Homer Laughlin football team, which bears all the earmarks at the present time of developing into a strong organization, is rapidly rounding into condition under the direction of Coach Carney.

A number of new additions have strengthened the squad considerably in the last few days.

Sharky and Alberton of the Burns club, Jones of Bellefonte, Miller of Grove City and Bob Concrete, Midland, formerly of the Garlick Odds, are among the latest candidates to join the outfit.

Mackall, Clark and Bennett, former East Liverpool high school stars, are performing in fine style.

It is understood also that Finley, Lee and Hildridge, semi-pro griders, will be seen in the lineup for the opening game.

Finley is really one of the best semi-pro backs in the valley and his presence in the Laughlin backfield will mean much to the success of the squad.

Manager Furl Bailey has called the squad out for practice every night this week at 5:30 p. m., rain or shine.

All candidates, he says, are asked to report, inasmuch as every position on the team is open to the best available material.

McCarthy's Cubs Prime Guns For Final Killing

Face Robins in Twin Bill Today and Expect To Have Flag Clinched Before Nightfall.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Brooklyn's Robins will rise twice over Chicago today and unless the Cub's powder gets wet, nightfall will find the weary rounders sweeping up feathers while McCarthy's boys are in the back room smoothing out the folds of the National league pennant.

Needling but one game the Cubs should be in before dark. For should they miss the Robins with both barrels the Pirates have but to lose to Philadelphia to give Chicago the pennant. The weather and the Cubs conspired yesterday to keep Chicago from clinching matters. The former raining out the Cub-Robin affair, the latter taking both games from Philadelphia.

Pittsburgh won 3 to 2 and 5 to 2, the opener going ten innings. The double set-back skidded the Phils into sixth place with the idle Robins moving up.

The Giants chances of finishing in second place were dealt almost a mortal blow when they blew an other to the Cards, 5 to 4, after eleven innings. Mel Ott went into a tie with Chuck Klein and Hack Wilson for home run honors when he slammed his 39th of the year.

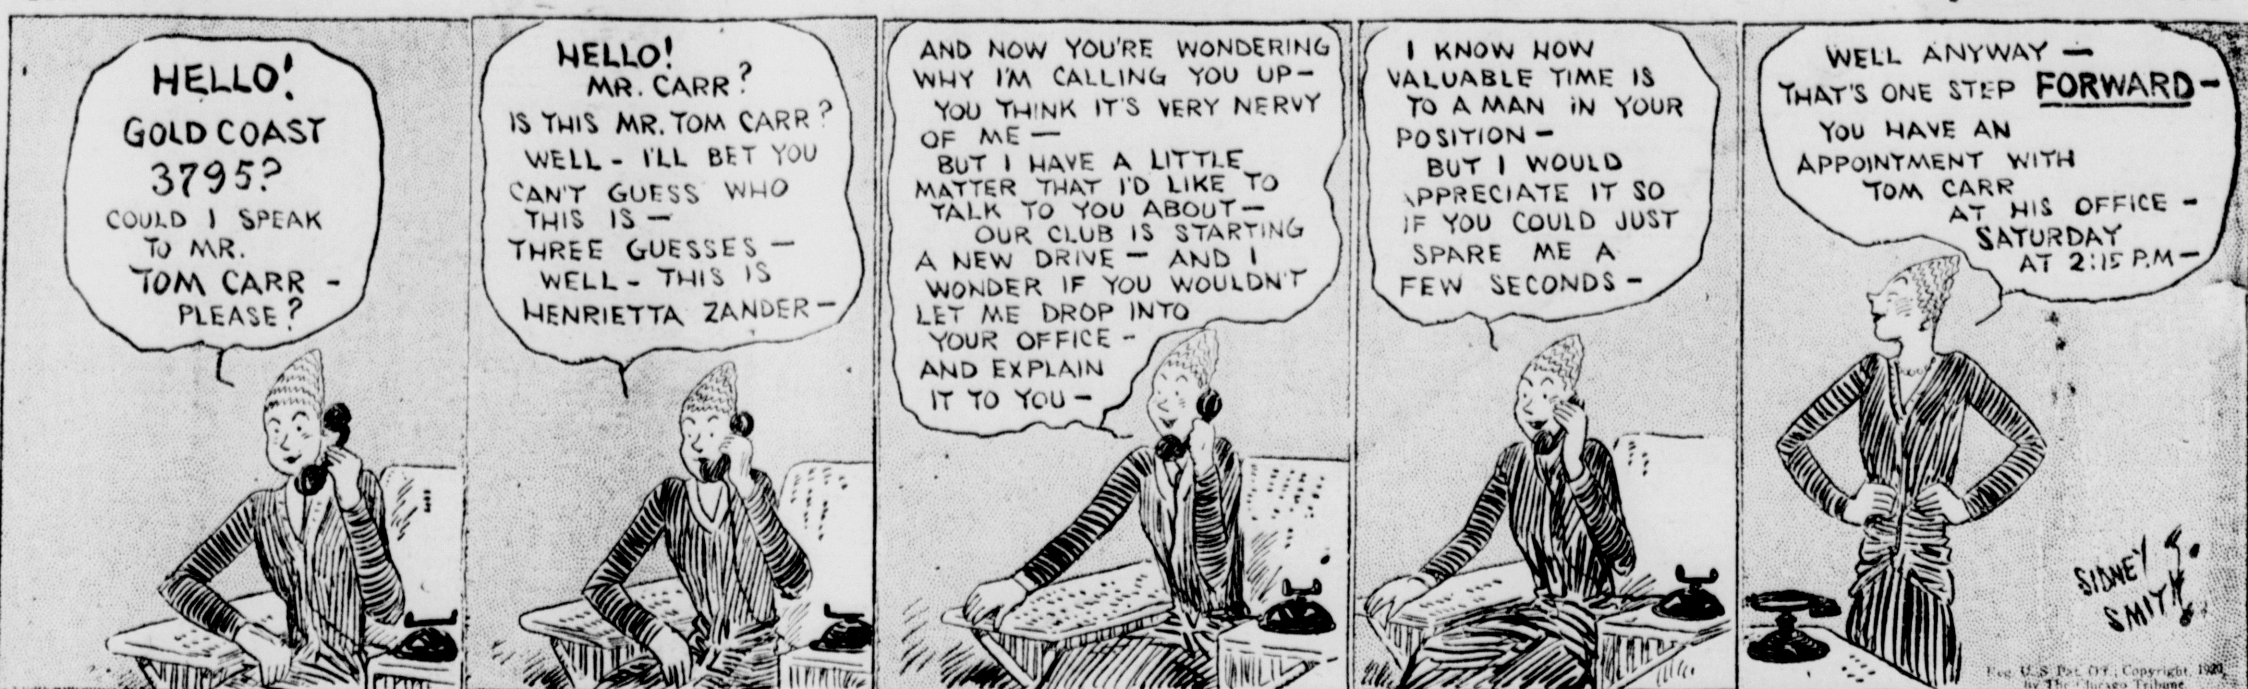

Even Red Lucas' presence on the mound could not check brave batters so the Reds dropped the final contest, 8 to 4.

Out to win 103 games this year, thus bettering all A Philadelphia teams of the past, the new champions of the American league were stopped cold by Alvin Crowder who allowed but two hits and the Browns won, 3 to

UNCLE POM

By Henry C. Rowland

A sparkling, swift-moving mystery romance.

SYNOPSIS.

Pomeroy Penfold, a wealthy American widower nearing fifty, loves to travel and visit friends. When the story opens he is a guest at the chateau of his sister, Alicia, and her husband, the Comte de Rennes. He is disturbed by the sight of an intruder—who appears on the estate, and stares rudely at Mala, the and Uncle Pom thinks she is the reason for his appearance.

The count surprises Uncle Pom by telling him that Mala loves him and indicates that the marriage would please him. The girl is more than twenty years his junior, and while Penfold has always admired her enormously, the thought of marriage has never entered his head. Mala overhears them and confirms her father's remarks. When the count learns of Seagrave's loitering on his grounds he is annoyed, but Mala assures him she has given the man a curt dismissal. She confesses that both Kirby and Seagrave have proposed to her. Knowing that the two men dislike each other, Pom fears they will quarrel over Mala, so he goes to search for Kirby, who has gone for a stroll. He is attacked and knocked unconscious.

INSTALLMENT VIII.

A STRANGE ACCIDENT.
"Mon pauvre vieux," said the count's voice. "Thank heaven you are coming round. Do not try to move."

Mr. Penfold lay still, blinking the acid brine from his eyes. Presently he asked, weakly, "What happened to me?"

"It appears you got too near the rock's edge and fell. The turf cornice overhangs. Do not try to talk. We shall get you to the house as soon as you are a bit more solid."

Mr. Penfold was silent. There came the sound of voices and a little company appeared: Mala, Kirby, Pierre, and the old maitre d'hotel Anatole. Pierre carried a canvas folding cot and Anatole a bottle of cognac and a glass containing a lump of sugar. Behind him the count's chauffeur Fanch who for some reason carried a spanner. Only peremptory orders had kept every other person at the chateau from trailing after.

BILLIE BLYTHE IN RIO RITA

International beauty prize winner in Rio Rita, which comes to the Ceramic theater, Wednesday, Sept. 25.

The sufferer was deftly rendered edge of the rock and pitched field first aid, administered down," Mr. Penfold said, evasively. "But why should you have dabbled with eau-de-cologne, bandaged, lifted gently onto the cot, stretcher and borne along in a sort of triumph, wrested from the tomb by prompt, skilled, and ample service."

The first alarm relieved, everybody talked at once, barring only Mr. Penfold who was trying to think. Nearly to the chateau his hand went down to his waist, fumbled a little for the elastic belt and finding it gone, he continued to preserve his silence, thinking still harder.

He felt scarcely any pain and his mind had cleared. He remembered even the eerie impression just before the blinding crash and loss of consciousness. He knew he had not fallen off the edge of the rocks; had not fallen at all until something had landed on his head from directly above. He remembered the fougere or fern bracken grew directly to the edge and was interspersed with gorse that was blooming for the second time that season with its pretty yellow blossoms. A fine stone might have been dropped on him. He could not imagine who this assailant could have been nor with what motive.

Nobody knew he was wearing a belt containing gems to the value of perhaps a hundred thousand dollars. The absence of his elastic belt appeared to be the result of his having been knocked senseless rather than the cause. It looked as if one person had seized the opportunity to knock him out and another, passing that way immediately afterwards, had loosened his clothes, pulled up his shirt to listen for his heart beat, and in doing so had discovered the belt and its contents—when the good Samaritan impulse had been set aside for greed.

The cortège reached the chateau and Mr. Penfold was carried to his room. The doctor presently arrived, examined the wound and pronounced it to be merely of the scalp with no injury to the skull. The scalp wound was sewn up; Mr. Penfold's head bandaged so that Mala said he made a handsome sheik.

"Mr. Penfold has also the courage of a sheik for supporting pain," said the doctor, for his patient had not flinched during the cleansing of the wound and the painful stitching, "and what is even more remarkable, he has the arteries of a young sheik. One of twenty-five years. That is most fortunate, as otherwise the result of such a blow might have been grave. All the same, I shall leave a prescription for a cardiac sedative at the pharmacy in town. Something to quiet the nerves and pulse. You can send over a little later to get it. That will ensure a good night's sleep."

Mala went out with the doctor, and the count drew a chair to Mr. Penfold's bedside.

"What really happened you, Pomeroy," he asked.

"I must have got too near the

SPENT $1500 TRYING TO GET WELL

Then Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brought Relief

This startling letter from an ex-serviceman will interest everyone who suffers from constipation:

"I was discharged after the World War with heart trouble and bad stomach. I had saved about $1500. Since then I've spent that sum and a lot more on doctoring and operations and medicines. I always was bothered with constipation."

"I told my wife to get some kind of light breakfast food and I would try it. She came home with a small package of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. I ate it for breakfast, lunch and dinner, about a common tea-saucer full with milk at each meal. I have been doing this for about a month. I have stopped taking dope (medicines). I work 9 to 12 hours. I have a good appetite. And now I am gaining flesh and believe I am getting well."

GEOFFREY C. O'CONNELL, Barker, N. Y.

Cleanse your system of constipation's poisons. Thousands have regained their old-time vigor and vim, stopped constipation forever, by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

the soul of precision about your toilet. Come now, you might as well confess. Somebody knocked you on the head, whether by accident or design, then was frightened and opened your clothes to listen to your heart. Your shirt had been pulled up and stuffed back hurriedly under your belt. The raspy heard Mala coming and made off. Your silence makes it look bad for Kirby Colton, because there is nobody else whom you would wish to shield."

"Well, it wasn't Kirby," Mr. Penfold said, irritably.

"This Cap. Seagrave, then?" Mr. Penfold said positively. "Kirby Colton had nothing what ever to do with my injury. He is not that's the last I remember. Must have bitten me on—don't have been a stone. But it's hard."

Kirby, that's the comte. "Curious, Kirby as she was running. Mala mror help. She asked him if he had seen you or Seagrave before she told him what had happened. He answered that you were lying. Mala and men to house to send for anything about bring a strongy anything about "Did Kirby been?" Mr. Penfold asked. He offered nothing. But when I said you must have fallen from the edge of the ledge, he merely nodded."

"Well, one thing is certain," Mr. Penfold said positively. "Kirby Colton had nothing what ever to do with my injury. He is not that's the last I remember. Must have bitten me on—don't have been a stone. But it's hard."
